Doesn't Care for the Just Man.

Do you know it is not a complaint to be called a just man? It carries with it an intolerant spirit, a mean disposition, and a fault-finding manner. There must not be too much justice in this country. The deeds must be altered and sugar coated. The just man is the man who demands that everybody come up to his standard. Ever think how hard a job that is? We have our own standards and it keeps us busy measuring up to them, but to have to measure up to some other man's standard is awful, simply awful.—Lawrence (Kan.) Journal.

ROBINSON FAMILY REUNION

Twenty-Fifth Held at Homestead in Franklin with Over Half of Members Present—Officers and Committees Elected.

The 25th annual reunion of the descendants of Arad Robinson took place yesterday at the old homestead on Prospect Hill, Franklin, owned and occupied by Deacon Lavius A. Robinson and family.

Arad Robinson was born January 20, 1727, the only son of Peter and Polly (Taylor) Robinson, and was of the 6th generation of the descendants of the Rev. John Robinson, the pastor of the Mayflower Church, Leyden, Holland.

Arad Robinson was born in Lebanon near the intersection of the town of Windham and Franklin. When an infant his parents moved to Uxton, Conn., and there resided until he was eight years of age, when they returned to Franklin. After a district schooling he learned the trade of a blacksmith with his father, Peter Robinson. Soon after his marriage he rented a farm and blacksmith shop in the west part of the town and at the end of one year purchased the farm now occupied by his son, Deacon Lavius A. Robinson, thus becoming a landowner.

Arad Robinson was a blacksmith being located on the place. Here he resided the remainder of his life, and was active until his death, September 18, 1872.

Eight children were born to Arad and Lura Robinson: Lura Abby (Hyde), Rosamond Miranda (Gager), Nancy Jane (Hyde), Mary Taylor (Manning), Asenath Abel (Tucker), Lucy Elizabeth (Manning), Lavius Arad and Nelson Dexter. Detective Hazelhurst Resigns.

Charles Hazelhurst of this city and Frank Decker of New London, special agents on the Shore Line division of the New Haven road, have resigned, their resignations having already taken effect. The reason, it is stated, is because of a lack of harmony among the numerous detectives.

Mr. Hazelhurst has been a railroad detective for a number of years and was perhaps the best known of the New Haven's agents.

As a detective Mr. Hazelhurst is known as one of the most energetic and fearless officers in the state. His successful and professional work, that he does not know or remember is a rarity.

Ralph Coit a Fellow.

Ralph Coit, deputy insurance commissioner of this state and actuary of the North Carolina insurance department, has received notice that he has been enrolled as a fellow and charter member of the newly organized American Institute of Actuaries which was formed in Chicago last May, its object being to advance the science of insurance mathematics. This enrollment of Mr. Coit as a fellow member is a recognition of his ability and success as an actuary. He came to Raleigh last September from Dallas, Tex., where he was the secretary and actuary of the Southwestern Life Insurance company. (Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer.

Each senator and representative is entitled to send out annually 12,000 packages of vegetable seeds and 500 of flower seeds, five varieties of each being placed in a package. The total number of single packages thus sent out, with the number sent out by the department direct, approximates 40,000,000.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

What a board walk the 225,000,000 feet of pine boards laid annually for matches would build!

Laundry Accomplishments.

A well-known usher in a suburban church overleapt himself last Sunday, and had to don clothes in a hurry.

"What in the world's the matter with this?" he asked, struggling and wrestling with his shirt.

"Oh, I guess the girl boiled it a little too long, dear; that's all," replied his wife.

"Looks to me as if she had fried it!" said the man.

Embarrassed.

"Your wife always says she is afraid something has happened to you when you are away from home longer than usual."

"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton. "I'm getting positively ashamed to go home with the same old truthful explanation about being detained by work instead of having something interesting to talk about."

WANTED ALL TO UNDERSTAND

Small Maiden's Somewhat Startling Explanation of the Omission of Grace.

A tiny girl of seven gave a dinner-party the other day, for which 12 covers were laid, and that number of small maidens sat down to dine. It was a real little girls' dinner, and the hostess herself presided, sitting at the head of the table. She had been very anxious, in looking forward to it, to do everything as it should be done. "Mamma," she asked, "shall we say grace?"

"No," said mamma; "it will be a very informal dinner, and I think you need not do that."

That meant one ceremony the less to go through, and was a relief. But the little lady was anxious to have all her guests understand it.

So, as they gathered about the table she explained:

"Mamma says that this is such an informal dinner that we need not have grace to-day."

An Artist's Lucky Number.

"I have not in my painting career so far matured myself in the spirit of the ancients as to embrace all their superstitions, but I do confess to a small superstition regarding the number seventeen. I have always found this a most lucky number for me. My wife was 17 when I first met her, and the number of the house to which I took her when we were married was 17. My present house did bear the same number; and the first grade was put to the work of building it on August 17. This was in 1885. I had then been in possession of the place for three years, during that time designing and making plans and sketches for the house. It was on November 17, 1885, that we took up our residence there."—Strand Magazine.
